

Pendant Anchor - we all know that anchor is a delightful and important symbol - from the ancient times it was leading us safely along the paths of life, it was holding our large and small travel boats near the comfortable shores of our homes...

The oldest image of an anchor was discovered by archaeologists in the Egyptian temple of Sahure built almost five thousand years ago!

Greeks and Romans held the anchor as a divine tool and a symbol of sea deities. For Christians, the Admiralty style anchor (with stock going across the top) was always reminiscent of a cross - a symbol of perseverance, hope and salvation.
