

We are affected by the environment, people, events - we collect everything into our memory, take everything into our heart. Let only clear, pure gold dew settle there, making us light as a bird.